Receive secure personal email messages Absolutely no spam in your email Very fast, affordable, and reliable with many features Use at home or on the road. Does not run any "hidden" processes that can slow your computer. Becomes your "under-the-table" email alternative Use it as a cheap search engine. Use it as a bank account. Become your PR person. And many more. Secure email is optional. If you want to send secure email messages to people, then this is perfect for you. But if you want to send secure messages to email addresses that are not on your list, this is one of the first applications you want to download and use. How to take advantage of this program: Using Forever Connected's previewer, you can send encrypted, self-destructing email messages. It does not store the messages as files on your hard drive. This way, when you email a file such as an attachment, it is fully deleted within 3 days. To ensure that Forever Connected is fully working in your system, run the program's icon in the tray after downloading it, and whenever you start your computer and need to connect. If the icon is not there, the download went wrong. Customizable Hotkeys You can set up your own hotkeys to activate the program's features. Thief - Allows you to connect only at night while your computer is sleeping. When enabled, it will be downloaded and started at the same time as the computer is put in sleep. This is especially useful for those with dial-up connections that time out once in a while. Multi-user - Once the connection is active, it will be shared by all users on your computer. Each user will only use his/her portion of the connection. Cheater - Enables you to download and upload files while you are connected. You can use this feature to cheat in the World Wide Web Download Game, or to simply download something you want to share with a friend. When enabled, you can still access all of the regular features. Server - You can use the Forever Connected Server so you can download, upload and share files while you are connected. You must have a separate computer which hosts your server. The Server will be downloaded and started when the computer goes to sleep. Faxing - Allows you to send and receive fax 6a5afdab4c
