Police in Hawaii have arrested a man who allegedly struck and robbed a grandmother outside her Honolulu home, leaving her needing five staples to close a gash on her head. Police said in a news release that at about 11 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 2, they responded to a call from authorities at the Pearlridge Apartments complex in the Manoa valley. It appears that the 66-year-old woman was walking from her apartment to her car when she was confronted by the suspect, who grabbed her, slammed her to the ground and took her purse, according to the release. Police said the thief then fled the scene. SPONSORED VIDEO The grandmother was transported to a local hospital with lacerations to her head and her face, according to the release. Investigators said the incident was caught on surveillance video. Police said a good Samaritan took a cellphone photo of the suspect and gave it to police. That's how officers identified and arrested a 32-year-old man, Adam Jackson. Jackson was arrested on suspicion of second-degree robbery. He was issued a no-contact order against the victim. At about 4 p.m. Saturday, police said they served Jackson with the no-contact order. He was held for a bail hearing. If found guilty, he faces a maximum of 10 years in prison, and a $50,000 fine.
