In the above mentioned article the authors found that there was a difference in the sensitivity to cisplatin (CDDP) between high and low  $\alpha$ -fetoprotein (AFP) producing hepatocellular carcinoma (HCC) cells. However, they interpreted that the reason for the difference was not due to the variation in the transfection level of AFP into the low AFP cells. The authors indicated that AFP activates TGF- $\beta$  signaling that plays a key role in epithelial-mesenchymal transition (EMT). However, they showed the unclear data whether the transfected AFP expression was responsible for the enhancement of TGF- $\beta$  signaling in the low AFP-producing cells. TGF- $\beta$  signaling is mediated by phosphorylation of Smad2/3. TGF- $\beta$  induces phosphorylation of Smad2 at serine 465, while the phosphorylation of Smad3 at serine 423 is induced by the activated TGF- $\beta$  receptor. Serine 423 of Smad
