

“With HyperMotion, we want to make football players even more authentic and immersive,” said Michael de Ridder, Executive Producer at EA Sports. “It's a big step up from FIFA 19, with enhanced player models, a new physics engine and new animation assets.” During the game, players will control team tactics and tackle multiple opponents. They will have to deal with different challenges on the pitch, including experiencing outfield players bursting onto the ball when tackled and tracking their movement as they run into space. “Up until now, players have tackled too fast,” said Luke Brown, Lead Character Animator at EA Sports. “They were too agile and they reacted faster. Even on the ball they would often fall over.” “With HyperMotion, players respond naturally to movement, they go where they want to go, and they tackle a lot slower,” Brown added. The movement of players over the ball and on the pitch is more organic and reactive. Players will no longer always fall over if they have to change directions in the air or when they are tackled. “It's the most realistic FIFA so far,” said Brown. “When players are really close to the pitch, you can feel their breath on the ball. You get a sense of what's going on when you're looking at the play.” FIFA returns to the pitch in three weeks at EA Play in Los Angeles. More details about FIFA 22 including the extensive Club, Divisional and World Cup content will be released in the coming months. Product Features FIFA 22 introduces “HyperMotion Technology,” which uses motion capture data collected from 22 real-life players playing a complete, high-intensity football match in motion capture suits. The data collected from player movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power FIFA 22 gameplay. FIFA 20 introduced major gameplay enhancements to the Trajectory Engine, authentic animations and new on-ball behaviours, while FIFA 19 introduced the most realistic gameplay physics to date.

FIFA 22 has new enhanced models, more realistic animations, updated on-ball behaviours, and controls have been designed with players in mind. ICONS is back in FIFA 22, created by a brand new unit of artists and designers. The new dynamic quality of ICONS is a perfect fit for FIFA gameplay and delivers an all-

What's new in Fifa 22:

- A more personalised club experience: Play your favorite teams' jerseys and kits with the introduction of Team Skins. Choose from 12 new club logos or 11 historic ones.
- The return of the Ultimate Team Trainer: With updated gameplay mechanics and commentary, the Trainer that takes you through new animations and new motion captured behaviours in the player can now introduce you to the AI bots. This helps improve your gameplay.
- Player Personalities: After the release of career mode in FIFA 21, the trainer now includes behaviours for your players, including new behaviours like on-ball and off-ball actions, more skills, new animations, and a variety of dribbling techniques that help players decide on which pass to make. With dozens of new behaviours, hundreds of new animations, new player portraits, and new player and team kits, you'll notice a new level of human choice for your players thanks to the combination of tactics in the game, and the endless customization options in Ultimate

Team.

- Preparations: Play together with more than 100 teams, use your Preparations to manage your squad and scout your opponents. You have all the tools to win and not have to choose your formations before you play a league.
- Defensive and Goalkeeper Midfielders: Eight new kits, five new badges, and new stats for these two positions.

FIFA (Fédération Internationale de Football Association) is the world's biggest videogame franchise and the best-selling sports franchise of all time. The FIFA brand has proven its worth as a reliable, validator of quality and authenticity. Football is a universal language, and the FIFA brand transcends cultural and geographical boundaries. I run EA SPORTS' FIFA development team, and I can tell you, no-one works harder or longer to deliver the absolute best football experience. We obsess over every line of code and every training session. We obsess over how to provide the most immersive football experience and make sure that our players are always true to their own brand values. We obsess over our fans and their feedback. We obsess over the global audience, the way they experience our game, and its effect on the evolution of football. I am a lifelong football fan with roots in the legendary Liverpool FC. I still go to games every week. And I've been with FIFA since the game first appeared on my Commodore 64 more than 30 years ago. This game is not just my baby. It is the collective work of all of the people that help make FIFA possible - the designers, artists, programmers, testers, accountants and marketers. We are passionate about every little detail and this dedication to player experience is the reason why FIFA is the biggest videogame franchise on the planet. Over the years, we've gained a deep understanding of the unique qualities of football and we work hard to stay at the forefront of videogame technology. We support football teams in real-world competitions, provide financial and licensing support for the Premier League, the FA Cup and League Cup, FIFA Women's World Cup™, FIFA ConCup, FIFA International Champions Cup, FIFA U-20 World Cup and FIFA U-17 World Cup, and host football tournaments in London, Paris, Istanbul, Casablanca and Madrid. Football is universal and FIFA is the global leader. We live and breathe football - and we are the biggest football game in the world. We are the home of football, where football rules. Features As you can see from the features list, FIFA 22 is the most ambitious FIFA game ever created. Featuring a new, more intuitive and refined user interface, FIFA 22 introduces various improvements to make gameplay easier and more intuitive to the user. In addition, FIFA
