which each tile represents part of a city: factory, shop, park, landmarks, etc. You work with the player on your left to design the heart of one city, and with the player on your right to design the heart of another city. On each turn you select two tiles from hand, reveal them, then work with your partners separately to place one of those tiles into each of your two cities before passing the remaining hand of tiles around the table. At the end of the game, each city is scored for its livability. Your final score is the lower of the livability scores of the two cities you helped design. To win, you have to share your attention and your devotion between two cities. The player with the highest final score wins the game. The game features play for 3-7 players. BEAT90 DATACONF NOKIO NOKIKOMORI YIN YOI YUZU * Koraculianni Sirena Canichtana * Meredith Jacquet OK, first thing's first. Tons and tons of notifications are pouring in right now. For those of you who've been around for a while - hello, re-connecting on the Interweb by some of you has been way harder. Our house (So Cal) has been pretty batty for a while now. We have a new One Time Only VA and she's the best damn thing ever. I love putting calls out to you guys and I have all of you totally saved to my favorites. Welcoming you to the Awaiting Notification's Hall of Fame. There's been a lot of cool retro stuff, especially when I wasn't putting the calls out, but I did keep the chat going, so y'all that are in the chat are totally protected in this regard. So, we already have tons and tons of cool stuff for this episode, Viro Banj, so I figured, you know, I hate teasing you guys and that;'s what I hate. So, here's what I'm gonna do: I'm gonna post as usual. As soon as I'm finished with this episode's stuff and all my notes and what I'm gonna have in the article itself, I'll post this video and I'll put out some more calls if any of you are asking for me to. If there's nothing going on? Oh my God. To say it has been rough would be an understatement and I'm not thrilled about the news. I can't believe it. The best way that I could put it is there's a couple of rumors swirling around and one of them that just gave me a heart attack. I couldn't believe it, but they're rumors and I hate to start rumors and I hate to blame anyone or anything so this is just me being plain old paranoid, but there are some whispers and stares and furtive moments that one would expect from something like this so I'm going with the "Yep, that's what's going on" style of intro for this one. I'll see

Inbento is a match-3 puzzle game featuring a bento box set as the main theme. It's a game that requires you to match colored blocks to create a matching pattern. Enjoy the many side-scrolling stages, and eat as many bento boxes as you can! Several Match 3 games are being released on the PS Vita system, and none have succeeded in revolutionizing the genre. What makes Inbento different? First of all, there's a bento box in the center of the screen! The timer and scoring system will help you keep track of your progress. Blending the classic match-3 puzzle with the traditional Japanese bento box, Inbento will challenge your knowledge of both Japanese culture and food. Key Features:

- Match-3 puzzle, with a bento box as the main theme.
- Tear-based stacking action.
- 4 types of bonus blocks that include fruits, beverages, and dishes to keep things interesting.
- Side-scrolling scenes, with a bento box in the background.
- More than 100 levels, with 5 different theme stages.

System Requirements: SCH-1500 or higher 12 GB of free space Processor: 1.8GHz Duo CPU or higher Memory: 2 GB RAM or higher PS Vita Card Memory: minimum 8 MB Hard Drive: 100 MB available space Video: 1280x720 HD (ORF), 16:9 About the Game: Inbento (Oishinoishinento) -A Match-3 Puzzle Game, by developer Kagato -Theme song: "The Inbento Box" -Story -Minoru is an adult at heart... Oh no, we got a bento in the box! This is a game we've been looking for. My name is Minoru, I've gotten mad because of this bento box. Damn it, the bento box is the last thing in the world I want. But I think I can solve this puzzle game with... Let's get started! Enjoy the scene. Excuse me, Miss! Can you prepare a bento box for me? Aw, what? It's a gift for someone else? I know it's a bento box. Can you prepare one? Hmmm. Yes. I'll prepare a bento box for you. Are you sure it's not too difficult
