How do i download lion.NEW DELHI: The government has not made much progress on finding a viable solution to the demand for a national Lokpal, which has been proposed in over 20 countries, government sources said on Monday.A number of states have appointed Lokayuktas or anti-corruption ombudsman, and some have even set up a Lokayukta to look into specific cases of corruption, but that is not a national Lokpal, government sources said."The government is still thinking about whether it needs an ombudsman or a Lokpal, so, we cannot say that progress is being made," a senior government source said. In 2010, on the suggestion of the lustice Verma panel. government had set up an Expert Committee on the Matter of Centre/States (ECMC/SC) under the chairmanship of former Supreme Court judge Justice A P Shah for studying a national Lokpal Bill. After six months of study, the Shah Committee submitted its report in October 2010. It had also recommended an ombudsman as the central government's "threshold level mechanism" to prevent corruption and to ensure access to justice. The recommendations were incorporated in the Lokpal Bill proposed by the four member committee.Both the Congress and the BIP have in the past opposed setting up of a central Lokpal which would have the powers to arrest and prosecute any bureaucrat found to be involved in corruption. The Lokpal Bill is set to be taken up in the Rajya Sabha soon. The Committee had pointed out in its report that the "three models for establishing a national anti-corruption institution are to set up a judicial forum; to establish an ombudsman; and to establish a statutory body that would prosecute offences.""There are no provisions for an ombudsman in any of the states where such a body exists."" d0c515b9f4

Mitotic attrition of slowly cycling progenitors is a potential contributor to the preferential loss of some cells during the course of the cell cycle. We investigate the kinetics of mitotic attrition by simulating it in a model of single progenitor cells. We establish that the total progenitor pool is stationary between mitotic cell deaths. The loss of the progenitor pool can be represented by a gradual decline of the number of progenitor cells in the pool with the consequence of a proportional loss of progenitor cells over the course of the cell cycle. This change is small compared to the daily attrition of progenitor cells and is not affected by the circadian rhythm. However, it represents a potentially important source of variability in the progenitor pool size. We predict a smaller rate of loss of stem cells and a smaller average loss of progenitor cells. Furthermore, we predict that the progenitor pool size is on average lower after a time delay following the loss of a stem cell.Комитет по национальной безопасности и обороне в Госдуме предлагает запр
