July 23, 2016 /PRNewswire-iReach/ --A press release and infographic released by the transnational tour and event planning company, Advance Event Services today suggest that more Britons may be coming to Germany to enjoy the generous benefits that its government offers than any other country. In the infographic published by a spokesperson for Advance Event Services, an estimated 4.3 million Britons are expected to come to Germany in 2016 alone, establishing themselves as the country with the largest number of Britons in Germany.

PricewaterhouseCoopers (PwC), a worldwide professional services firm with $153.9 billion in annual revenue, notes that Britain continues to be the EU's second most popular tourist destination, with 19.5 million people crossing the Channel in 2015. The daily average number of Britons coming to Germany has risen from 2.7 million to 4.3 million. supports their hard work," said Advance Event Services spokesperson Charlene Collins. "This should encourage British event organisers to engage with us about their business needs and how to most efficiently fulfill their event management needs in the UK. After all, British event organisers also need a reliable and affordable UK event service. It's time to prove it." Zimmermann & Zimbalist, the company which was the
