Chappie Movie Download In Hindi Kickass Barely two months after the BJP launched a campaign to ban instant triple talaq, a bill was introduced in the Parliament on Friday, aimed at delivering a big blow to Muslim men and their practice of getting a divorce by uttering just three words. The Muslim Women (Protection of Rights on Marriage) Bill, 2019, seeks to ban instant triple talaq among Muslim men and strengthen protection for women from such incidents. Once the bill is passed, this practice will be banned, with a maximum punishment of three years in jail and fine. The bill stipulates that the offence would also apply to talaq pronounced by an electronic device as also through telegraph. WHAT IS TRIPLE TALAQ? Traditionally, a Muslim man would pronounce talaq thrice - orally, in writing or in two quick clicks on a cellphone. Likely to attract the Opposition's flak, the bill doesn't include the word divorce but ensures that "no Muslim man shall have the right to divorce his wife by any oral, written or electronic means." Apart from that, the bill will also safeguard women from such incidents by applying the provisions of the Muslim Women (Protection of Rights on Marriage) Act, 2019. Committee member Ambika Soni said that the bill would protect "right to life of the wife and children of the husband," adding that it also sets "limits on the meaning of talaq." For the first time, the government is trying to tackle the issue of instant divorce for Muslim men, a significant portion of which is believed to take place in the name of God. Since the Supreme Court banned instant triple talaq in August 2018, the government had adopted a slew of measures, including amendments to the Muslim Women (Protection of Rights on Marriage) Act, 2019.
